Mundane Significations

Ruling Planet:	Mercury
Country/Current Affairs:	Infrastructure
Essential Dignities:	(+) Mercury Cards (-) Jupiter Cards
Industry:	Transportation

Ruling Planet

Mercury functions as a planet that connects people, transacts business arrangements, and arranges short trips and travel. Likewise, the Horseman is a form of ground transportation meant to facilitate deliveries between two different parties. The Horseman also carries news back and forth between individuals similar to Mercury/Hermes the messenger God.

Country/Current Affairs

The Horseman being ruled by Mercury represents the domestic infrastructure of a Municipality, State, or Federal government. Cards connected with the Horseman may reveal the current state of affairs with regards to roads, bridges, railroads, and other internal infrastructure build outs.

Essential Dignities

Mercury tends to be strongest in other Mercury cards. However, Mercury generally does not get along with Jupiter, these two planets have different outlooks on the world. Mercury tends to focus on the details to each situation and risk of getting lost from time to time. At the same time, Mercury examines current affairs and events from the ground game and have a good logistical handle that enables them to respond more robustly. Meanwhile Jupiter is expansive and focuses on the larger picture and the endgame. Jupiter cards don't necessarily care about the fine print but look at things from a birdseye view.

When the Horseman falls in the following Grant Tableau (GT) houses below you can anticipate these supportive types of relationships:

12th GT House (Birds) – Infrastructure will involve negotiation and careful attention to details.

16th GT House (Stars) – Infrastructure and capital build out will take off successfully and take the Country or Corporation into a new chapter and new heights.

22nd GT House (Crossroads) – The logistics of getting everything into play for infrastructure to take place will be crucial to evaluate and determine a successful path forward.

25th GT House (Ring) – Meanwhile the Birds were about negotiations, the Ring is about successful contracts taking place to seal the deal to purchase capital equipment. If there have been issues in the past year—it's likely that they will be resolved this year so the contract can be finalized.

27th GT House (Letter) – Infrastructure and capital purchases will take place as evidenced by official documents (i.e., purchase orders, change orders, checks, invoices) exchanging between two parties through the Horseman.

When the Horseman falls in the following Grant Tableau (GT) houses below you can anticipate these adversarial types of relationships:

2nd GT House (Clover) – Infrastructure is likely to be expansive with many issues to address. There will be a need to focus on evaluating the risk between infrastructure build outs.

3rd GT House (Ship) – Domestic (Country) or Internal (Business/Corporate) infrastructure is likely to a backseat to spending capital abroad (Foreign Countries) or business ventures.

5th GT House (Tree) – Infrastructure will be slower to build out or implement. There will be a significant need to examine the stability and structure of any build out plans before fruition can take place. Precedence might take place over other matters.

19th GT House (Tower) – Purchasing capital equipment or construction for infrastructure is likely to be slowed down due to bureaucratic processes and red tape that will hinder the project from taking off.

26th GT House (Book) – There might be hidden issues lurking throughout the next year that result in a going back in forth to determine a way to make capital purchases.

33rd GT House (Key) – Infrastructure is likely to take place despite any challenges.

Industry

Mercury serves as the significator for the Transportation Industry. Modern day usage of the Horseman also represents transportation and ground vehicles such as cars, trains, and bicycles. Examining businesses within the transportation industry, the Horseman can be used as the signifier or key card.

Clover

Mundane Significations

Ruling Planet:	Jupiter
Country/Current Affairs:	None
Essential Dignities:	N/A
Industry:	Gambling

Ruling Planet

Jupiter provides an opportunity for abundance but can also lead to excess or risky behaviors. This relationship mirrors the meaning of the Clover, which provides unexpected luck, windfall cash, second chances, and risky behaviors.

Industry

Jupiter and Venus serve as the significators for the Financial Services Industry. Venus tends to rule traditional day-to-day financial services such as, banking and bookkeeping. Jupiter on the other hand has a tendency to rule the more risk advantageous financial services such as investments and gambling winnings. The Clover is suited to represent any inquiries about a business that provides gaming and betting services such as casinos, horseraces, and lotteries.

Ship

Mundane Significations

Ruling Planet:	Jupiter
Country/Current Affairs:	International Affairs
Essential Dignities:	(+) Venus Cards (-) Mercury Cards
Industry:	Tourism

Ruling Planet

Jupiter opposed to Mercury represents long distance travel. The Lenormand Ship also represents long distance travel and comes under the influence of Jupiter.

Country/Current Affairs

Jupiter not only encourages us to travel abroad but he also allows us to accept and entertain foreign visitors. Thus, inquiries regarding the state of international affairs or diplomacy can be inquired by examining the position of The Ship and what influences the surroundings cards have in connection.

Essential Dignities

Jupiter is supported by Venus related cards, which help foster expansive relationships and places an emphasis on judicious values. However, Jupiter generally does not get along with Mercury, these two planets have different outlooks on the world. Mercury tends to focus on the details to each situation and risk harming the overall health of the relationship with foreign dignitaries or other executives your organization might be negotiating with. Mercury examines international affairs and events from the ground game and have a good logistical handle but maybe more rigid. Meanwhile Jupiter is expansive and focuses on the larger picture and the endgame. Jupiter cards don't necessarily care about the fine print but look at things from a global perspective.

When the Ship falls in the following Grant Tableau (GT) houses below you can anticipate these supportive types of relationships:

9th GT House (Bouquet) – International affairs (for countries) or relationships with other organizations within your industry (for corporations) are likely to be beneficial.

15th GT House (Bear) – Foreign relationships with other countries or organizations are likely to involve transactions that are financially motivated.

17th GT House (Storks) – Changes are in store for international affairs or relationships with other organizations within the examined industry. Travel or going back and forth between entities is likely. If relationships in the last year were difficult, there is certain to be improvement in the upcoming year.

18th GT House (Dog) – International affairs or relationships with competitive and peer organizations are to be supported, trusting, with deals being mutually beneficial.

20th GT House (Garden) – External relationships are likely to be very active during the upcoming year.

24th GT House (Heart) – International affairs is likely to revolve around humanitarian issues during the next twelve months.

When the Ship falls in the following Grant Tableau (GT) houses below you can anticipate these adversarial types of relationships:

1st GT House (Horseman) – External relationships will involve a great deal of communication, but these details may be premature, include negative feedback that requires change.

12th GT House (Birds) – Long distance relationships aren't likely to be furthered through face-to-face communication but through phone and verbal communications.

16th GT House (Stars) – International affairs or relationships with competitive and peer organizations won't likely be furthered this year in a pragmatic sense. The focus will be on planning this year and taking action in the next year.

22nd GT House (Crossroad) – External relationships are likely to fork and evolve into competitive or non-mutually beneficial interests that delay moving the relationship forward.

25th GT House (Ring) – The expansiveness of Jupiter might be too large or aggressive to close any contractual agreement with a foreign country (for Countries) or foreign corporation (for Businesses).

27th GT House (Letter) – International relations is likely to involve formalized communications opposed to warm-hearted communication methods.

Industry

In Astrology, Jupiter can indicate the state of affairs for businesses that commence in tourism type activities. When using the Lenormand to answer business or economic questions related to Tourism—The Ship can serve as the key card.

House

Mundane Significations

---

Ruling Planet:	Moon
Country/Current Affairs:	Domestic Agenda
Essential Dignities:	(+) Jupiter Cards (-) Mars & Saturn Cards
Industry:	None

---

Ruling Planet

The Moon is often about your roots, our legacy, home and domestic affairs. Similarly, the House in the Lenormand represents our home and domestic household.

Country/Current Affairs

When looking at inquiries that examine the state of affairs for a Country or State, one can look at the state that the House is in Grand Tableau to determine how the domestic agenda is fairing (in opposition to the international agenda found in the Ship).

Essential Dignitaries

The Moon supports and bolsters the energies of Jupiterian type cards. When the House is found in Jupiter cards we see a willingness to share and explore the qualities of both energies represented within the cards. Domestic affairs and energies of the House are weakened when they are found in Grand Tableau houses that are ruled by Mars and Saturn cards which tend to find no happy medium. Mars energy tends to speed up the Domestic Affairs in an aggressive manner and may take the agenda off track. Conversely, the Saturn energy cards tend to slow down the movement of domestic affairs to a standstill.

When the House falls in the following Grant Tableau (GT) houses below you can anticipate these supportive types of relationships:

2nd GT House (Clover) – The domestic agenda of a Country is likely to move forward with good luck and favor of the people.

3rd GT House (Ship) – Exploration and changes are in store for the Country when the house lands in the 3rd House of the Grand Tableau.

5th GT House (Tree) – Spiritual and Healthcare are two important subsets of the domestic agenda that will be supported and moved forward in the upcoming year.

19th GT House (Tower) – Congressional and Judicial bodies will move forward the domestic agenda of the people.

26th GT House (Book) – When the House lands in the 26th house of the Grand Tableau you will see movement in education reform over the next year.

33rd GT House (Key) – Significant and important changes across the domestic agenda will take place over the upcoming year that will set a long lasting tone for the country not only in the upcoming year but several years later.

When the House falls in the following Grant Tableau (GT) houses below you can anticipate these adversarial types of relationships:

6th GT House (Clouds) – Achieving successful domestic goals for the Country will be plagued with unexpected challenges throughout the year. The agenda is likely to encounter confusion among the populous and will need to be consistently explained.

7th GT House (Snake) – The domestic goals is likely to encounter false claims. Those who are moving the agenda will want to look at the communication cards in the Grand Tableau to see the extent of the influence this deceit will have on moving the domestic agenda for the Country or business.

8th GT House (Coffin) – Meanwhile the House falling in the Clouds and Snake houses of the Grand Tableau will encounter problems related to domestic affairs they can be overcome. When the House falls into the 8th house of the Grand Tableau there is cause for major concern as it is likely there will be next to no movement in promoting their domestic goals for the remaining year.

10th GT House (Scythe) – Decisions made on domestic affairs will create long lasting negative consequences that will impact the Country or business for years to come.

11th GT House (Whip) – Disagreement and discord is likely in moving the domestic agenda along. There might be breaks within party lines or allies. Examine the state of the Man and Woman card to explore how such disagreement may play out.

14th GT House (Fox) – The domestic agenda will require a lot of hustling this year to move it along. In addition there may be some deceit involved and careful attention should be played to how domestic affairs play out during the course of the year.

21st GT House (Mountain) – Obstacles will impede any agenda items related to domestic affairs over the upcoming year. These obstacles will be great but unlike the Coffin—can most likely be overcome depending on the surrounding cards.

23rd GT House (Mice) – The domestic agenda is likely to encounter stress and loss in achieving stated goals and objectives over the course of the next year.

30th GT House (Lily) – This combination isn't necessarily negative. When the House card falls into the 30th house of the Grand Tableau it indicates that the Country will be able to initiate its domestic agenda over the upcoming year—however, bringing goals to completion will require a commitment that may take several years to complete.

34th GT House (Fish) – Small business and entrepreneurship is likely to take a backseat in the domestic agenda in lieu of other priorities taking place.

35th GT House (Anchor) – Similar to the Lily, when the House card falls into the 35th of the Grand Tableau it indicates that all the cards on top of the last row bog it down. There are other priorities for the Country to face right now. Any domestic affair initiatives will take perseverance and a long-term commitment to accomplish.

36th GT House (Cross) – Religious tensions may plague any movement on the domestic agenda for the Country being examined when the House card falls into the last place of the Grand Tableau.

Tree

Mundane Significations

Ruling Planet:	Jupiter
Country/Current Affairs:	Spiritual Health
Essential Dignities:	(+) Venus Cards (-) Mercury Cards
Industry:	Religious/Spiritual

Ruling Planet

Jupiter rules religious affairs, our individual spiritual development and our spiritual health. The Lenormand Tree is primarily known for our health—however it’s also known for our spiritual wellbeing and our core values. Therefore, the Tree in the Lenormand is ruled by the planetary influence of Jupiter.

In astrology the Sun is typically assigned to healthcare type services in mundane astrology. The Sun functions as our life force, our vitality, and our stamina. These are certainly characteristic of the energies held within the Lenormand card so I wouldn’t argue with those who adopt that attribution. However, I have decided to attribute the Sun to the Lenormand Sun, which is also indicative our vitality and life force (i.e., physical health) opposed to our spiritual health, which I attribute to the Tree.

Country/Current Affairs

Jupiter is often associated with the affairs of our religious leaders, spiritual development, and nurturing our essence. Looking at the state of religious affairs was extremely important as this was often times the ruling body of government and played a significant role on society. In modern day times the influence of religious institutions has begun to wane. However, there is still value in looking at the state of affairs in our religious community when doing mundane Grand Tableaus for a Country. However, I would argue a higher emphasis should be placed on domestic and cultural affairs attributed by the House card.

Essential Dignities

Jupiter is supported by Venus related cards, which helps to establish our relationship to ourselves, develop our core values, and spiritual beliefs that guide our behavior. However, Jupiter generally does not get along with Mercury, these two planets have different outlooks on the world. Mercury tends to focus on the nitty-gritty and logical details of each situation, which might stagnate our spiritual growth.

When the Tree falls in the following Grant Tableau (GT) houses below you can anticipate these supportive types of relationships:

9th GT House (Bouquet) – Spiritual matters in the Country will be of a healing nature. If there was discord in the past year, there will be healing and recovery to those disputes in the upcoming year.

15th GT House (Bear) – When the Tree falls into the house of the Bear you can anticipate the next twelve months to good in terms of resources. Spiritual institutions won't suffer from a lack of funding to carry out their missions.

17th GT House (Storks) – Religious institutions are undergoing an evolutionary change or fundamental shift in their paradigm.

18th GT House (Dog) – The Country will rely on religious institutions for support this year. You'll see an increase in the populous participating in missions (not to be confused with attending religious services).

20th GT House (Garden) – When the Tree falls in the Garden of the Grant Tableau you'll then see the populous participate in more religious services. Organization will be increased all areas of practice—religious services, study groups, missions, committee work.

24th GT House (Heart) – Religious fervor and passions will be high. This can be a good thing or a dangerous and contentious thing depending on how the surrounding cards in the Grand Tableau connect to this card.

When the Tree falls in the following Grant Tableau (GT) houses below you can anticipate these adversarial types of relationships:

1st GT House (Horseman) – When the Tree falls into the Horseman house of the Grand Tableau you will see a lot of going back and forth between religious institutions. Not a whole lot of work, consensus, or agreement will occur.

12th GT House (Birds) – The Tree in the Birds house of the Grand Tableau indicates much discussion and attention to detail (as ruled by Mercury). The Country may also see negative, false or gossiping type language about initiatives among religious institutions that don't serve to progress the faith.

16th GT House (Stars) – Plans, goals, and strategic planning is ill advised for religious institutions during the upcoming year. Any endeavor to begin a strategic plan may see the committee being stuck in the nitty-gritty details and unable to move forward to the larger goal and objective.

22nd GT House (Crossroad) – Religious institutions will be at a crossroads and there may be schisms or splits occurring this year that cause groups to break up and go their different ways.

25th GT House (Ring) – Contractual defaults or conflicts are to plague religious institutions this year. If there are meetings or organized doctrine votes scheduled this year—the Country can anticipate challenges.

27th GT House (Letter) – Negative news media and press coverage will be in store for religious institutions over the next year.

Industry

The Tree in the Lenormand can be used as a key card when drawing a Grand Tableau for clients who need to evaluate their business that might be in any type of industry dealing with spirituality, esotericism, and religion.

Ruling Planet:	Mars
Country/Current Affairs:	None
Essential Dignities:	N/A
Industry:	None

Ruling Planet

The Clouds in the Lenormand bring about a level of uncertainty to any situation. There may be a storm brewing—it may be short lived or it may be prolonged—what is certain is that it'll be over soon enough. The Clouds don't serve as any key card when looking at current affairs or a Grand Tableau of a Country or Business.

The Clouds have been associated with the planet of Mars. When we see the Clouds in a reading we see uncertainty and a call to action. More specifically, a call to take control of our own destiny and to seek a sense of clarity and uncertainty. Mars too is a call to action, to initiate, and to create. Finally the Clouds have a tendency to disrupt or delay things in our lives. Mars is a malefic planet that is associated with wars. Wars have a tendency to delay to stop development for cultures that are now redirecting resources and efforts to one objective.
